MAX-P is a proprietary software system developed by Geo Owl that empowers management, customers, and contracting officers to assess a vendor’s performance, with both qualitative and quantitative measurements. It is fully customizable to meet all professional services and contract requirements regardless of the specific line of work that is being completed.

MAX-P can be used to quantify, qualify, incentivize and reward performance on any services contract.
PatternFlows is a proprietary software developed by Geo Owl. It was inspired by our own analysts to innovate the process currently being used to capture information. The software allows analysts to maximize productivity, improve workflow and eliminate errors that come with working in a fast-paced environment.

The result? Better decision making when it matters the most. Coming this year.
